

PEACE COMMITMENT

It is possible to achieve Peace.

I recognize the need for Peace within and around me,

I engage myself in creating Inner and Outer Peace.

There is no Peace without Joy, so I choose to give joy and well-being.

There is no Peace without Hope, so I choose to become a source of hope.

There is no Peace without Love, so I choose to affirm love and egolessness.

There is no Peace without Security, so I offer myself as a center of security.

There is no Peace without Communion, so I choose to build senses of community.

There is no Peace without Equanimity, so I choose to share my surplus.

There is no Peace without Trust, so I choose to be a mirror of honesty.

There is no Peace without Truth, so I choose to live in clarity and light.

There is no Peace without Freedom, so I choose to welcome all differences.

There is no Peace without Strength, so I choose to be a well of faith and courage.

There is no Peace without Justice, so I choose to nourish attention and respect.

There is no Peace without Reconciliation, so I abandon myself to forgiveness.